

Tagakaolos are known for their colorful garments adorned with beads and intricately designed patterns.

MRTC preserves the rich cultural heritage of Blaans and Tagakaolos. It is ideal for retreats, seminars, church conferences, workshops, heritage tours, and weddings.

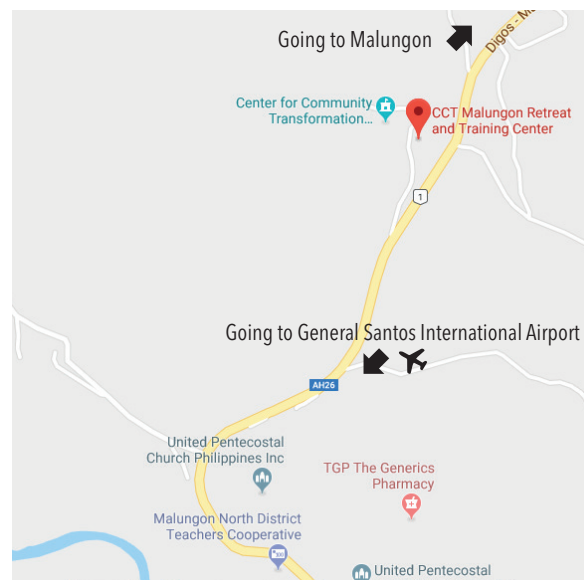

Blaans commonly use musical instruments made with bamboo in their dances and worship.

Part of the MRTC construction team were former street dwellers ministered to by the CCT Kaibigan Ministry through intentional discipleship and industry skills training.

With a 45-minute drive from General Santos International Airport, you can experience the tranquility of a truly indigenous environment that MRTC has to offer.
